MOUNTAIN UPDATE:

After years of hoping, wishing and planning, we are excited to announce that Bluewood now has a webcam!

Actually, not just one webcam, but two of them— one at the base and one at the summit!

Installed this week by our friends at Fire, Weather & Avalanche Center, these webcams will provide a look at what's happening around the mountain now and throughout the season.

We're still ironing out details, such as power issues, but right now, this evening, the images are available at https://bluewood.com/webcams.

The webcams are set to shut off at 5:59p and start up again at 8a every morning until Bluewood opens for the season (when the generators supply full-time power).

During our soft launch, the webcams may be up or down, depending on how long batteries last.

We just couldn't wait to share the news with you!

What a view from the top this morning. It was snowing for a while too!

Getting the safety guard for the Skyline lift engine in top shape today.👍
